

How to Dumb Down a Nation

By Samuel L. Blumenfeld

It's easy. Destroy its literacy, and you've dumbbed it down. And once dumbbed down, it becomes the potential victim of any power that wants to dominate it.

If you look at the most illiterate nations on the planet, you find that they are ruled by despots, their people live in abject poverty and have no hope for a better future. That doesn't mean that literate nations, like Germany, can't produce monsters. But when they do, we know that satanic influences are behind it.

America, from its beginning, was the most literate nation on earth, and the result was positive in every respect. Why was it so literate? Because the people and their leaders were governed by the precepts of the Bible, and biblical literacy was paramount in the education of the country's children.

But once we got a government schooling system, which was taken over by atheist progressive educators, the God of the Bible was removed from the schools. It then became possible to introduce a new socialist curriculum with teaching methods calculated to reduce American literacy. The Bible was now relegated to an hour of study in church on Sundays. And because it was no longer part of the curriculum, children no longer considered it important to life.

A blatant, anti-biblical morality was introduced in the schools through such programs as values clarification, sensitivity training, transcendental meditation, sex education, death education, drug education, multiculturalism, psychotherapy, evolution, secular humanism, and other such programs. Moral degeneration has been the inevitable result.

The result is that America has been greatly dumbbed-down.