Phyllis Schlafly
The Phyllis Schlafly Report
P.O. Box 618
Alton, IL 62002

Dear Phyllis,

In my recent talks with young conservative Republicans, I've discovered that virtually none of them are aware of the important role the NEA plays in our political system. Not one of them had heard of my book NEA: Trojan Horse in American Education, first published in 1984, twenty-four years ago. That book had a great influence on Republican voters. It sold over 65,000 copies.

The book has been out of print since 1995, and used copies are now being sold at Amazon.com for $22.48 and $17.94. It occurred to me that a new, updated edition ought to be published for the education of today's young conservatives. Would you be willing to share authorship with me of an updated edition by writing a new Introduction and adding a final chapter or two about the NEA's latest political agenda? The Phyllis Schlafly Report continues to provide the only extensive news about the NEA's conventions and their resolutions. That information put in a book would reach many more readers and expose the NEA for what it is: socialist, atheist, and humanist.

If this idea appeals to you, we can work out business arrangements suitable to the both of us. The book could be promoted on the Internet through WorldNetDaily and other websites. Hopefully, the book could also be used to help raise support for the Eagle Forum among Collegians and provide some income for yours truly who is now 82 years old!

Sincerely,

Sam

*Yes, Sam. I'm just coming up for air after the Republican
Convention and House Council XXXVII
Let me know — Phyllis*

Dear Joseph,

I read your column "Time for a new movement," and agree with you wholeheartedly. You are right when you say that "Conservatism is a purely defensive political movement for a more innocent time."

We need a pro-freedom movement as radical and revolutionary as the one started by our Founding Fathers. They faced an opposition that was truly staggering: the might of the British Empire, yet they prevailed. We must start as they did with a Declaration of New Independence.

You hit the nail on the head by focusing attention on our government education system which is controlled by the far left. Back in 1984 I wrote a book in which I exposed the takeover of the public schools by the Progressives, "NEA: Trojan Horse in American Education." It sold over 65,000 copies and was instrumental in starting the home school movement.

The book is presently out of print, but I have received so many requests for it that I have decided to update it with the help of Phyllis Schlafly and make it once more available to the public. Would you be willing to write a new Introduction to the book? Since the book was so effective in moving many parents out of the public schools, a new edition might prove as effective today in getting parents to realize how much worse the schools have become since 1984.

Sincerely,

Sam Blumenfeld
